

Jodie Grenier is the Executive Director of Military Women In Need, an organization that works with women veterans to utilize their strength, resilience and achievements to overcome obstacles as they transition to civilian life. Jodie began her career in the United States Marine Corps serving with 1st Marine Division, G-2, military intelligence. She deployed in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom I and II as an Intelligence Collections and Watch Chief and was honored with the Navy Commendation, Navy Achievement, and Global War on Terrorism Service, and Iraq Campaign Medals. In 2005, Jodie was honorably discharged from active service and promoted to Staff Sergeant in 2006 in the Reserves. Jodie held various intelligence and security advisor roles over the past ten years including Force Protection and Security Supervisor in Al Kut, Department of State in Kabul, and Modeling and Simulation Intelligence Analyst for the Marine Corps Battle Simulation Center in Camp Pendleton, CA.

In pursuit of her passion for philanthropy and serving veterans, Jodie was a founding member, Director of Events and Fundraising, and former VP of the Marine Reconnaissance Foundation. Jodie has also raised awareness and stewarded significant financial contributions for Final Salute, an organization that assists homeless women veterans and their children. Jodie holds a bachelor's degree in psychology and is currently pursuing her Masters in Nonprofit Leadership and Management at the University of San Diego.
